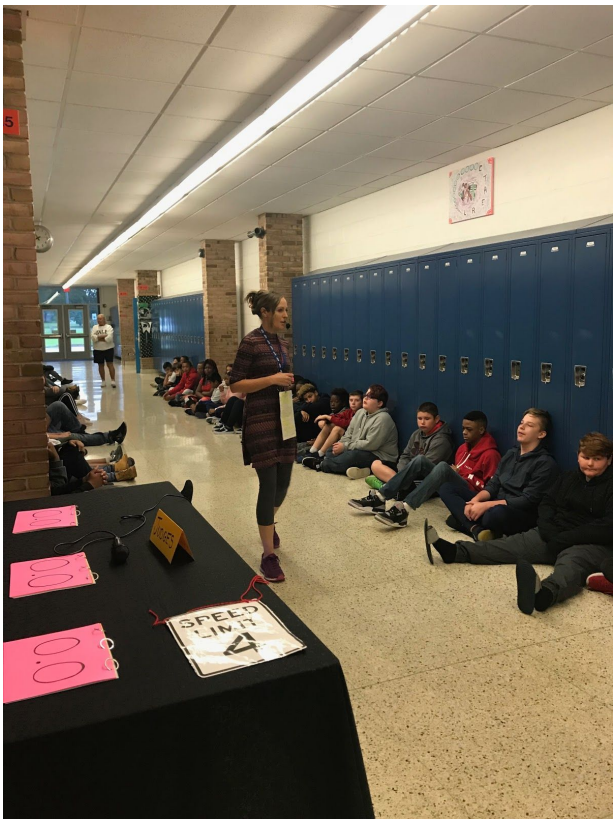
Thank you to Mrs. Sullivan and the Lighthouse Team who got our morning started off right by selling donuts and water. They had quite a line. They plan to sell these to students each Friday, so be sure to bring at least $1 next week.

Thank you to Mrs. Shipley who has been running our hallway assemblies to review our school RAPS (Respect, Accountability, Pride, and Safety). She made these fun and interesting by having students involved as judges for the mph demonstrations, shared important hallway safety information, and even the drama llama stuffed animal made an appearance!



Sincerely,

Kimberly A Doman

Principal

Using an iCal Feed

Subscribing to a calendar's iCal feed is a great way to have the events be added to your 'personal' calendar automatically. While there are many programs that use iCal, the two that will be highlighted in this article are I-Phone and Google Calendar.

Adding an iCal feed to your Google Calendar

1. Click on the iCal icon for the calendar that you would like to follow.

2. Copy the "iCal Feed address"

3. Open a browser and go to your Google Calendar page. In the left-hand side find where it says, "Other Calendars". Click on the arrow to the right of that to view a menu.

4. Click on the "Add by URL" option.

5. Paste the address copied in step 2 above into the URL field, then click the "Add Calendar" button.

6. You should now see the events on your calendar.

Adding an iCal feed to an iPhone or iPad

1. From a computer, click on the iCal icon for the calendar that you would like to follow.

2. Copy the "iCal Feed address".3. Send the address in an e-mail to an account that you can read on the iPhone or iPad.

4. Open the e-mail on your iPhone or iPad

5. Hold your finger on the address until a list of options appears.

6. Select "Copy".

7. Go to the Settings section of the phone and then open "Accounts & Passwords"

8. Select "Add Account" then "Other" at the bottom of the list of accounts.

9. Select "Add Subscribed Calendar".

10. Now place and hold your finger in the "Server" box until the magnifying glass appears, 11. When you release your finger, you'll see the option to "Paste".

12. Tap on paste to put the address of your calendar into the box.

13. Select Next.

14. Type a helpful name for this calendar into the "Description" box then "Save".

Now open your calendar to verify that the events are appearing. You may have some of your calendars hidden. To make sure that you are showing the new calendar, tap on the "Calendars" button and make sure that there is a check in front of your Subscribed Calendar.

Manufacturing Day Field Trip

Interviews with Manufacturing Day Participants:

Ethan: What did you do on the Manufacturing Day field trip?

Trent: The first thing we went to was a place where they built car parts. I liked that place in particular because I am a huge fan and I love helping my dad fix cars. Next, we went to a place where they take Ford cars and trucks, and repair them, make them all fancy, then sell them. The last place we went to was Schoolcraft College. We learned a lot. It was super fun!

Ethan: What was your favorite part of the field trip?

Zach: My favorite part of the field trip is when we got to see the upgraded cars.

Ethan: What did you learn?

Zach: I learned about microns, which are tiny units of measurements.
